Independent In-Service Booklet

As a Foster Grandparent, you have an opportunity to receive in-service credit for activities you do at home or in the community where you learn something that helps you to work with children. This booklet is to be used to document this training.

Some Examples:

- Reading an educational article or book about something you didn't know that helps you personally or helps you with the children
- Attending a staff in-service meeting or school training after hours
- Watching an educational show on TV that has to do with your own health or that teaches you something about children
- Discussions with the teacher about what you need to be doing with individual children
- Attending a lecture (Osher, Senior Center, Other)
